ComPILLability Invention In Search of Licensee

An innovative and highly essential medical smart phone application, the ComPILLability, has been developed by Candice James of Clinton, Utah. The invention's unique features enable it to serve as a potentially life-saving device for those who take medications.

The ComPILLability helps to insure that its users take their medications at the correct time. The product can prevent potentially tragic scenarios where an individual experiences a drastic reaction due to taking a higher dosage than recommended or combining medications that should be taken separately. Additionally, the ComPILLability eliminates the confusion and uncertainty over medication dosages and combinations. Furthermore, it provides its users and their loved ones priceless peace of mind. Moreover, the ComPILLability will be easy and straightforward to operate and utilize and competitively priced, adding to its appeal.

The ComPILLability is also in Patent Pending status within the United States Patent and Trademark Office.

Mrs. James now seeks a third party licensee to manufacture, market, and distribute the product for her under a royalty agreement. Potential licensees in the medical smart phone applications industry are currently being targeted as candidates to eventually commercialize the ComPILLability on a worldwide basis.

In July 2014, Mrs. James contracted Miami, Florida-based product management services leader Innovation Direct™ to represent the ComPILLability to potential licensees for a 2 year period. Innovation Direct™ obtains the maximum amount of exposure for the products that it represents through its unique and patented licensing methodology and its participation in multiple and diverse industry-leading trade shows each year.
